

Dental care for everyone!

Good dental health is crucial for a healthy life. Dental problems can affect the whole body and contribute to a list of secondary diseases.

For a food worker who is exposed to commodities that can have a harmful impact on the dental health daily, dental care is extra important. The health of the mouth affects the rest of the body and also the quality of life, both short and long term. Dental care in Sweden is expensive which means that not everyone have the same access to dental care.

In a modern Sweden, no person should have to abstain from seeking dental care because of their financial situation. That is why we need a dental care reform that equalizes dental care with general health care.

Not being able to look after ones teeth is unacceptable. That is why we demand that the teeth should be viewed as a part of the body!

We want

- a dental care reform that equates dental care with general health care
- dental care to be included under the high-cost protection
